TOBY! This SWEET fella has waited over 200 days for the chance at a happily ever after. He's keeping his paws crossed that the right person sees this and comes to adopt. He is 8 years young, fully vetted, loves riding in the car, pup cups & string cheese. He has been described as a loyal loving Velcro dog who loves the company of his human friends (prefers adults).
Maybe you can make his dreams a reality?

So many adorable kittens and cats of all colors and ages in need of a happily ever after.
Check out these 2 CUTE kittens...SALMON (tabby 3mo male) and PETUNIA (torti 4 mo. female)! They are super affectionate and hope someone sees this and comes to adopt them...maybe even together.

DOG DROOL

Does your dog drool? If so it can be messy but be aware that it also may have some reason behind it besides the delicious food you are going to feed it. It could be a medical or structural reason - stress, nausea, toxicity, seizures or dental pain. Make sure your dog hasn't eaten something it shouldn't have and check its mouth and teeth to make sure there isn't something stuck in there. If you have any reason to suspect any medical or dental issues make sure to get you dog checked out by your vet as soon as possible so the drooling problem doesn't turn into something critical.
